

BRIEFLETS.

—Showery.
—Last week of May.
—The Circuit Court is still at the criminal calendar.
—Not much demand yet for linen dusters and straw head-coverings.
—The German Club will hold a conversation at the residence of Mrs. H. W. Collins, this evening.
—Burr Robbins is in the city to-day. His wife's health will not permit of her going with him quite yet.

—Rev. Mr. Sawin and Rev. Mr. Roberts exchanged preaching places, last evening, the former addressing the Baptist, and the latter the Congregational people.

—Mr. George Prichard left to-day for Kansas City, where he will enter the employ of Swan Bros., who formerly lived here. His many friends wish him success.
—We have for sale at Gazette Counting Room two of Mole's patent hat target throwers. Sportsmen interested will do well to call and see the same. They are a great novelty.

—Mrs. E. R. Erwin desires through the columns of the Gazette, to thank her many friends, for their kindly sympathy and friendly aid shown on the occasion of her mother's death and funeral.

—Rev. Mr. Sawin will lecture to-morrow evening at Appleton, Wis., under the auspices of the Philanthropic Literary Society of the Appleton University. His topic of talk will be "Mirabeau."

—Burr Robbins has laid out his route as follows: Columbia, June 3; Beaver Dam, the 4th; Fox Lake, the 5th; Waupun, the 6th; Fond du Lac, the 7th; Oshkosh, the 8th; Neenah the 10th; and Appleton the 11th.

—When the colored preacher passed around the hat last night some generous hearted one in the audience put into it a $5 bill. It was a counterfeit though, and the giver will not get credit either here or above.

—Mr. and Mrs. William Clark will start to-morrow for Scotland where they intend to spend the summer. They may take in the Paris show, and other points of interest while they are gone. A safe and happy journey to you.

—The red-ribbonites crowded the hall full yesterday afternoon at their regular public meeting. Rev. Mr. Wheeler, chaplain of the club, conducted the exercises and made a few remarks. Hon. J. B. Casaday gave a stirring address full of telling hits. These meetings will be continued.

—Messrs. Nowlan & Wilcox have gained another contract, they having been the successful bidders for building a new jail at Black River Falls, the award having been made last Friday. The cost of the structure will be about $2,300. These contractors seem to be having their hands full of business.

—The impression has been received by some in the city that the company which proposes to build water-works here, wants the city to lay the pipes. This is a decidedly wrong impression. The company lays the pipes at its own expense, and the city has nothing to pay but the $30 per hydrant. The company furnishes everything, and simply asks the city to rent the hydrants at the price stated. All those who have received a different impression, can rest assured that the above are the facts in the case.

—Col. J. H. Warren, of Albany, Green county, well known to all our citizens, was in the city to-day, and is on his way to Nebraska, where he has large landed interests. He not only has hundreds of mail contracts in all parts of the Northwest, but he owns 2,000 acres of beautiful land in Cumming county, Nebraska, on the Elkhorn Valley. He has already 150 cows on his farm, several of which are blooded. He proposes to increase the number of the herd to 1,000 by the summer of next year. His estate lies on the Elkhorn Valley road, 85 miles northwest of Omaha. The Colonel's enterprise will yet make him the largest farmer and stock grower in the thrifty State of Nebraska.

THE WEATHER.

The thermometer at seven o'clock stood at 54 degrees above, and at 2 o'clock at 65 degrees above. Cloudy. One year ago to-day at 9 o'clock a. m. the thermometer stood at 70 degrees and at 10 o'clock at 80 degrees above.

The indications are, generally higher pressure, and lower temperature, windy mostly from west to north, clear or partly cloudy weather, occasional light rains, and possibly followed in the western portions by falling barometer and winds shifting to warmer easterly.

CLOTHING FOR ALL.

Echlin & Foote, the well-known clothiers, and dealers in gentlemen's furnishings goods, have their store filled with latest and best styles, and stand ready to fit the smallest as well as the largest resident, with the best of the market affords, giving the purchaser the option of having them ready-made, or having them made to order. They have experienced, reliable workmen, and all the facilities for meeting the demands of all. They have been established in Janesville for years, and have on every hand proofs of their reliability and enterprise. They propose to keep up their reputation, and are always found prepared to supply all wants in their line with the latest and best goods which can be had. The attention of the public is called to their advertisement.

THE CIRCUIT COURT.

Edward Higgins, charged with stealing a watch from Patrick O'Connell, was acquitted by the jury before whom he was tried Saturday last.

The case of Pond, a harness maker, in Evansville, charged with forgery, was on trial to-day. It was charged that he forged the name of a Mr. Vaughan to a note for $30, and sold the note. The defendant claimed that Vaughan gave him a note for $30, and that it bore no resemblance to the one he thought it ought to be, he got him to sign another. Vaughan forgot to destroy the first one, and defendant used it. The jury this afternoon acquitted him.

TALKING IT OVER.

A Meeting of Citizens to Consider the Proposals for Water Works.

Further information on the subject obtained, and a Committee Appointed to Investigate.

In response to the call issued in the Gazette there was a gathering of citizens at the Council Chamber Saturday evening to consider the subject of water-works. Mr. Wm. Ruger called the meeting to order and nominated Mayor Norcross for chairman, who was accordingly chosen, and Mr. H. W. Tilton was chosen Secretary.

Dr. H. Palmer at the request of some present read from the Gazette, the formal proposition made for the establishment of water-works, and explained it in detail answering such questions as those present desired to have answered. They have put in works at Ottumwa and contemplate putting in works in Omaha. They have been building in the East mainly, and are now seeking investments of capital in the West, deeming it more profitable to build water-works than to put money into four percent bonds. These Eastern men simply subscribe to the stock of the present company and furnish the necessary funds. The local company only desires such an interest as shall best serve the interest of the public.

The company will only make a contract for a term of years, for the $150,000 to $200,000 which they propose to bring here, would not pay a profit for eight or perhaps ten years. They seek a permanent investment and know that in time it will pay. They want to have the contract binding for at least 25 years. The rates to private consumers are as low or even lower than those established in most large cities. These rates, under which the local company has already made contracts, cannot be increased any, and in some instances will be reduced, as for instance on outside hydrants. They propose to put these at a nominal price—say $5—for every man having one will have a little fire department of his own, and by a lead of hose be able to protect his own property. The company propose to keep the works, the pipes, hydrants &c., in repair, just as the gas company keeps up its repairs, or any private company protects its own property. The hydrants are protected from frost by a jacket. The amount of hose now used by the city will not necessarily be increased because there would be 62 points to draw from. There are in the city 95 lamp posts, so from that can be gained an idea of the territory which would be covered by this number of hydrants. The object of having 62, is to place the expenditure within the amount allowed by the charter for fire purposes. In other cities of this size $75 is the lowest price per hydrant which any are paying, and the average is from $80 to $100, and some pay as high as $150. In no city has the company invested for a less term of years than 25. Experience has shown them that after a term of years they have been compelled to come down on rates to consumers, instead of attempting an increase. The prices established in some places a few years ago have been reduced from ten to twenty per cent. The company has to get its profit from private consumers, and of course it is expected to place the water as low as possible to keep up a large patronage. As to whether the city had the legal right to enter into such a contract, the Doctor could not say, as he was not the city's legal adviser, but his own opinion was that it could. The fire protection would be better than now. The steamers could not keep three streams playing on the Myer's house. The company proposes to be able to put on seven. In the outskirts there could be five streams. In case of a fire in the High School building five large streams could be put on at once, or on any of the other school buildings. Four times the territory now protected by the fire departments would be covered. The gas mains extend between eight and nine miles. The water pipes would extend twelve miles. The works would add one-twenty-fifth to the taxable property of the city.

The river water run through filter beds would be much purer than what is now used, and natural filter beds were plenty at this point.

Mr. A. A. Jackson addressed the meeting. He had occasion when a member of the Council to go over this whole matter. He learned more or less about thirty or forty cities in which water-works were established, and none had abandoned the system, and all were unanimous in pronouncing water-works more economical and efficient than fire departments. If better fire protection can be gained for the same money, it surely is a desirable move. The city should adopt that method which will protect the largest number of its citizens provided the cost is not increased. Water-works would prove a great convenience to the people in their homes. In Milwaukee those who were most opposed to the establishment of works, were now most loud in their praises, having seen the benefits. The fountains and private hydrants would add much to the desirability of property.

Mr. G. A. Libbey explained that these outside hydrants for private use, were not expected to throw a stream of more than an inch in diameter, but would have force enough to throw water over any ordinary dwelling house and would prove amply sufficient for all desired purposes.

Mr. Andrew Palmer deemed the proposed plan the most rational of any yet presented for getting an abundant water supply, and hoped it would be pushed forward to completion. All propositions heretofore were of such a nature as to cause the city to incur a burden. In this case the city would be largely the gainer. It was more advisable to accept such a proposition than to wait until the city by its growth and by pressing necessity should be forced into building water-works itself, which would be indeed disastrous, as all knew who were familiar with the way these public enterprises were apt to be conducted, and the way in which all such movements were apt to become entangled in political strife, and individual envy. It was far better to let some company, distinct from the city, furnish the capital and build the works, at their own risk. He was heartily in favor of the proposal, and desired to have the matter brought to a vote in order to get out a more definite expression of the feelings of those present.

After some further discussion it was decided on motion of Mr. J. C. Metcalf that a committee should be selected by the citizens present, to consist of one from each ward and one at large, the duty of said Committee being to investigate the facts thoroughly and to act in conjunction with the Committee appointed by the Council. In accordance with this motion the following were elected as such committee:

At Large—Edward Ruger.
First Ward—E. G. Field.
Second Ward—John J. R. Pease.
Third Ward—B. B. Eldridge.
Fourth Ward—James Harris.
Fifth Ward—O. B. Ford.
Adjournment was then taken subject to the call of the Chairman.

OBITUARY.

MRS. R. RANDALL.

Mrs. Harriet Eliza Fidelity, wife of General Brewster Randall died at their residence about 11 o'clock yesterday morning, aged 58 years, seven months and fourteen days.

The deceased was born in Connecticut, Ohio, and was the daughter of Colonel Edward Fidelity, a prominent citizen of that State. She was one of a family of eleven children, six sisters and four brothers, three of whom, two sisters and a brother, survive her.

General Randall came to Wisconsin with his family from Norristown, Pennsylvania, and settled in Janesville in the summer of 1861. The quiet, gentle, benevolent life of Mrs. Randall had for her a full measure of esteem from a large circle of friends. For many years she had been suffering from disease of the heart which at times caused her great distress. About five years ago she received a paralytic shock which partially disabled her, and from which she never fully recovered. During all this time the disease of the heart had increased upon her until her suffering was almost constant. For several weeks her death had been looked upon as a not altogether unexpected event. Early in this month her condition was telegraphed to her oldest son, Major Randall, United States Army, now stationed at Ft. Leavenworth, who came at once and spent a few days with his mother, but was obliged to return again to his post. A daughter and two other sons reside here. One of her sisters has also been with her for the last few weeks. All that a dutiful and loving family could do has been done to alleviate her sufferings, until yesterday morning at eleven o'clock, she passed peacefully away. The death of a wife and mother whose life had been devoted to the welfare of her family is a calamity which can only be appreciated by those who have experienced it, but the survivors will have the fullest sympathy of the community. Her funeral will take place on Wednesday, at 1:30 o'clock p. m. at the residence.

MRS. ELIZA STIMSON.

Mrs. Stimson died quite suddenly at her residence, last night, of heart disease. She has suffered from that trouble for some time, but was yesterday feeling quite well, and experienced no unpleasant sensation until nearly 10 o'clock last night, when she complained of a strange feeling and sank into her chair, and in less than fifteen minutes died. Mrs. Stimson's maiden name was Boyd, and she was a native of Madison county, New York. She was married to Mr. Nathaniel Stimson and lived for some time in Rome, New York, where Mr. Stimson was engaged in mercantile business. She removed to this city with her husband in 1854. Mr. Stimson was for a time engaged in the lumber business here with Mr. J. W. Story, now of Chicago, and died about three years ago. Mrs. Stimson leaves among other relatives a sister, Miss Kittie Boyd, who has resided with her, and a brother Mr. J. H. Boyd, who resides in the town of Harmony. She was a member of the Congregational church, and was a highly respected lady, greatly loved by her friends and admired by her acquaintances. Her sudden death greatly surprised the community, and the bereaved ones may feel assured of the heartfelt sympathies of many.

MR. JOHN HUGGINS.

Mr. John Huggins who has been station agent at Hanover Junction ever since the building of the Monroe branch of the Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, died at his home in that place last Thursday, having reached the age of 83 years. He was a native of England, and was formerly a resident of Janesville, having come here about twenty-five years ago. He was a man of more than ordinary ability and in years past used his pen much to the edification of his fellow citizens, in writing up a series of articles for the press, among them being some reminiscences of his life in London, which were particularly interesting. He has served as postmaster in Hanover for some years, and at various times during his residence in this section of the State held positions by which he has extended his circle of acquaintanceship, so that there are now many who will learn the news of his death with regret.

A TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE.

The Story of the Storm as Told by a Rock County Man Who was Injured by It.—The Truth Which is Stranger than Fiction.

Mr. William Wood, who lives about three miles west of Milton Junction, was one of the unfortunates who was caught in that terrible storm last Thursday night. Dr. Palmer of this city, went out to attend to his injuries, and from him we learned the experiences through which he passed. Mr. Wood had started on a trip to Nebraska, having provided himself with a light lumber wagon, and having the company of a young man. They had only got on the journey as far as about two and a half miles west of Oregon, in this state, where they struck the storm, or rather the storm struck them. They looked about for shelter, and hastened to drive into a farmer's yard, where they had scarcely unhitched the horses, preparatory to putting them in the barn, when the storm came in full force. The air was so filled with dust, leaves, and dirt that they could not see a rod ahead of them, and almost instantly pigs and cattle commenced falling into the yard, as though they rained down, though in fact they were taken up by the whirlwind and after being carried high in air, were dropped again. One of the horses which they had just unhitched from the wagon was carried about ten rods, and the other about forty rods, and were badly battered and bruised. Mr. Wood and the young man were injured quite seriously, the former having been thrown but a short distance but with sufficient force to cause a fracture of the leg and some internal injuries. The young man was thrown about thirty rods, and sustained a dislocation of the shoulder and some bruises. The wagon was literally crushed to pieces. The wheels were twisted off the axles, and completely demolished. One wheel had only the rim left, and only one spoke remained in the hub. One wheel is still missing, and the body of the wagon was converted into splinters. A remarkable thing about the demolition of the wagon was that it was only moved a few feet. The barn toward which they were going for shelter was completely destroyed, there hardly being a vestige left to mark the site. Another barn on the farm was also demolished. The house was completely wrecked, and one man who was within, was killed. The adjoining house which stood but a little ways from this one, was completely wrecked, but singularly enough the man and his wife who occupied it, escaped without injury. A double barrow standing in the field was lifted up and carried sixty rods, and many other moveables were thrown hither and thither in the wildest confusion.

A GOOD SHOWING.

The Work of the Presbyterian Church During the Last Five Years.—A Generous Missionary Spirit.

Yesterday morning Rev. J. W. Sanderson preached at the Presbyterian Church a sermon highly appropriate to the occasion, it being the end of the fiscal year of the church, and the close of his fifth year as pastor. He chose for his text, Psalms 90: 17; "And let the beauty of the Lord our God be upon us; and establish thou the work of our hands upon us; yea, the work of our hands establish thou it." He dwelt upon the meaning of the prayer thus uttered and the effect which would follow when it was answered, and urged upon his hearers the truth, that by and through God's help alone could any church gain true prosperity. In closing his discourse he reviewed the past of the church, and spoke encouragingly of its future. He presented some statistics which show the church to be in a healthy, growing condition, and to be deserving of special mention for its missionary zeal and generosity.

During the five years of Mr. Sanderson's pastorate there have been 73 additions on examination, and 20 by certificate, and the total membership has been increased from 145 to 180. There have been 14 adults and 29 children baptised. The Sabbath school has increased in numbers from 160 to 225.

The total collections for different causes during the five years were $10,666 distributed as follows: Home Missions, $621; Foreign Missions, $569; Education, $78; Publication, $18; Church Erection, $83; Relief Fund, $127; Freedmen, $69; Sustentation, $25; General Assembly, $90; Congregational, $7,876; Miscellaneous, $1,112. This makes an average per year of $2,131 for various purposes, and with an average resident and attending membership of 166, makes the average per member $12.80 per annum.

In the contributions for home and foreign missions there has been a steady increase until now the amount contributed is much larger than that of most churches of double the number of members.

The showing throughout, taken year by year, shows an encouraging growth, and the outlook for the future is no less bright.

SPEEDING THE STEEDS.

The Trotting Matinee at the Janesville Driving Park, Saturday Afternoon.—Some Fast Flyers on the Track.

There was a large gathering at the Janesville Driving Park, Saturday afternoon. The first race was for green horses, and had only two starters, Whitewater Belle, owned by Dr. Greenman, of Whitewater, and Lady McKee, owned in this city. Belle won the first heat in 2:47, and the race was declared off, owing to the announcement of a death in the family of the owner of Lady McKee.

The free-for-all had three starters, Lady McFatridge, of Chicago, Fayette and Annie B., of Whitewater. It was easily won by Lady McFatridge in 2:31½ and 2:32, Fayette coming in second in each heat, followed closely by Annie B.

There were four entries in the 2:40 race, Doubleday's colt, from Whitewater; Dixie, Rile and Roanoke. The first heat was won by the colt, Rile second and Dixie third. In the next heat Dixie was drawn, and Whitewater Belle allowed to start in the place. The colt won it, with Belle second and Roanoke third.

The scoring was tedious, and the time between heats wore out all patience, but aside from this the races were interesting. It is to be hoped that such matinees will be frequent occurrences during the summer, as they will surely increase in popularity.

ANOTHER BURGLARY.

A Trio in Trouble Charged with Cracking a House.—A Lively Tussle with One of the Prisoners.

Last Friday night the house of Mr. Thomas Van Alstein, who lives about four miles from Hanover, was broken into and $90 in money stolen from a bureau where it was secreted. Suspicion fastened upon three young men living in the vicinity, and warrants were issued for their arrest, they being Adelbert Turner, a boy about 16 years old, who lives with Mr. Van Alstein, the latter being his guardian, Charles Stewart, a boy only a year older, who lives just across the street, and a young man about thirty years old named Spencer Turner who lives with a widowed mother on a farm adjoining. It seems from the evidence against them, as nearly as can be ascertained, that the three first went into the cellar, and stole several quarts of wine, and drinking this became recklessly drunk. They then placed a ladder against an upper window and thus secured an entrance and stole the money which they divided up. They took the train for Beloit, where they spent some of the plunder, the boys buying jack-knives, pocket-books, mouth-organs and other trinkets, and the young man Turner investing largely in stimulants, packing them for convenience into his stomach. They then took the stage for Janesville where the boys were found by the officers in a barber shop and arrested. They squealed on Turner and an officer was sent out after him. Constable Taylor found Turner near the Spring Brook farm, and tried to arrest him. Turner showed fight, and after striking out from the shoulder once, turned and fled. Taylor chased him, firing two shots at him, and finally got near enough to knock him down with the butt end of a revolver. He was carried off to jail. This morning the trio appeared before Justice Balch. Spencer Turner waived examination and was held to the Circuit Court in the sum of $200, in default of which he was committed to jail. The two boys were held in bail of $100 each to appear for examination June 10, at 9 o'clock.

OFF HER FEET.

Badly Dosed Beef Tea Throws the French Woman Off the Track—Failure to Accomplish Her One Hundred Miles—An Amateur's Feet.

Miss Lachapelle at the close of the 75th mile of her walk against time last Saturday, had about seven hours to finish her hundred miles within the 24 hours advertised. She took a brief rest and then went on the track again. About six o'clock in the afternoon she took a drink of beef tea. It tasted strangely but she did not think very much about it until shortly afterwards when she became very much nauseated, her head throbbing terribly, and she was obliged to leave the track, and call for medical aid. It appeared that some one had put some port wine into the beef tea, and dosed it with pepper and salt, so that it nearly used her up. Remedies were given which speedily restored her so far as to be able to resume her walk, but the time which she lost, was such that she could not make up and walk her hundred miles in the twenty-four hours promised. She should have finished her task by half-past nine o'clock Saturday night, but at 10 o'clock she had only made about 97 miles. She then took a few moments' rest and made her closing mile in ten minutes. It is to be regretted that she was thus used in regard to food, but it is not known whose is the blame. Her manager should have seen to it that her food and other arrangements were properly attended to. She came out all right yesterday, and about as usual.

John Dyer kept up with the little French woman to the end, although she had fourteen miles to start. He was able to be out on the street as usual yesterday, as though nothing had happened.
